

11.12.1 BULWARKS AND GUARD RAILS

The following procedure is to be followed onboard the vessel to ensure compliance with MI-103 Chapter IV Section 4.12 and, more importantly, the safety of the guests and crew.

The crew and guests are restricted to the main deck aft and to the sundeck while the vessel is underway. The only exceptions to this are for crew to access the bow during anchoring operations.

To ensure that all crew and guests are aware of this, the following actions must be taken prior to proceeding to sea.

Action	Location
Connect the two (2) chains on main deck between the pad eyes to restrict access forward.	Forward of the port and starboard quarter mooring stations there are two pad eyes installed on either side of the companionway in way of the fashion plate.
Lock and tag out the port and starboard entrances.	The crew entrance (port) and the guest entrance (starboard), leading to the companionways.
Connect the four (4) chains on the sundeck between the pad eyes.	1) Portside bar, forward face leading to buttress/fashion plate 2) Portside bar, aft face leading to stairwell handrail 3) Portside, aft stairwell handrail to starboard side BBQ 4) Starboard side BBQ, forward face leading to settee
